1 I. INTRODUCTION

2 The Court lacks subject matter jurisdiction over Irico Group under the Foreign Sovereign 3 Immunities Act (“FSIA”), 28 U.S. §§ 1602 et seq. Irico Group has always been wholly owned by 4 the State Council (“State Council”) of the People’s Republic of China (“PRC”). The Chinese 5 government created Irico Group for the benefit of the Chinese people, and the government tightly 6 controlled all of Irico Group’s high-level management and day-to-day business operations. Irico
7 Group is thus an agency or instrumentality of the Chinese Government and is presumptively 8 entitled to sovereign immunity.

9 Irico Group was established through the direct approval of the Chinese Ministry of 10 Machinery and Electronics Industry of the People’s Republic of China on March 16, 1989.
11 (Amended Wang Decl. ¶ 20; Amended Plunkett Decl., Ex. 46.) As a state-owned enterprise, 12 Group was funded solely by the Chinese government. (Amended Wang Decl. ¶ 26; Amended 13 Plunkett Decl., Ex. 29 at -514.) As part of the PRC’s Seventh Five-Year Plan, the national 14 government created Irico Group for the explicit purpose of developing and manufacturing CRT
15 technologies within mainland China and to respond to the needs of the Chinese people for color 16 televisions. (Amended Wang Decl. ¶ 21; Amended Plunkett Decl., Ex. 6.) The government also 17 required that Irico Group, as a state-owned company, provide a host of societal benefits to the 18 people, including Group’s creation and maintenance of local schools, a police force, hospitals, 19 and recreational facilities. (Amended Wang Decl. ¶¶ 25-27; Amended Plunkett Decl., Ex. 49 at 20 -964.) And the State directly managed and tightly controlled virtually all Irico Group operations.
21 By way of example only, the Chinese Government—through the State-owned Assets 22 Supervision and Administration Commission of the State Council (“SASAC”)—appointed and 23 removed all members of the board or directors, general managers, and certain lower level 24 employees; required Group to achieve performance targets for maintenance and appreciation of 25 State-owned assets; evaluated and determined compensation for the board and management 26 employees; embedded “supervisory panels” inside Irico Group to monitor the businesses’ 27 day-to-day functions; approved/rejected annual budgets and capital expenditure requests; 28

1 required Group to pay a set portion of profits back to the government and reinvest the remainder 2 so as to increase the value of State-owned assets; and disciplined Irico Group employees, 3 including by expelling same from Irico Group's employ. (Amended Wang Decl. ¶¶ 22, 24, 4 27-29, 31-38.) At the time the original complaint was filed, Irico Group was a state-owned 5 enterprise wholly owned by the State Council and controlled through several departments of the 6 State Council including SASAC. (Amended Wang Decl. ¶¶ 22-24.)

7 DPPs cannot establish that any exception to Irico Group's presumed immunity under the 8 FSIA applies. Contrary to DPP's statements, Irico Group's alleged actions do not fall within the 9 "commercial activity" exception to the statute. As required to defeat a claim of immunity, DPPs 10 cannot establish a "direct effect" in the U.S. that followed as an "immediate" consequence of 11 Irico Group's commercial activity. Moreover, the law squarely rejects DPPs' claim that Irico 12 Group's alleged participation in a global conspiracy qualifies as a "direct effect" that would 13 defeat the presumption of immunity. Finally, as DPPs have not and cannot establish that any 14 other exception to FSIA immunity applies to Irico Group, the Court should hold that Irico Group 15 is immune from suit as an agency or instrumentality of the People's Republic of China and thus 16 order the dismissal of Irico Group with prejudice.

17 II. BACKGROUND AND FACTS

18 A. Procedural Background

19 This case relates to a purported conspiracy to fix the prices of cathode ray tubes 20 ("CRTs"). DPPs represent a class of entities that purchased CRTs or CRT products from one or 21 more of the defendants. (Dkt. 436.) Irico appeared in the case in June 2008, represented by 22 different counsel, and joined motions to dismiss, (Dkts. 308, 479), which the Court denied on 23 March 30, 2010, (Dkt. 665). Believing itself immune to suit in the United States, Irico ceased 24 participation in May 2009. (Dkt. 732 at 1.) On June 28, 2016, the Court ordered plaintiffs with 25 claims against Irico to advise why those plaintiffs had not previously requested entry of default.
 26 (Dkt. 4694 at 2.) DPPs filed their responses on July 5, 2016, and default was entered against Irico 27 on July 20, 2016. (Dkt. 4705, 4727.) On August 3, 2017, DPPs applied for a default judgment
 28 against Irico. (Dkt. 5183.) On October 25, 2017, Irico filed an opposition to DPPs' application

1 along with a motion to set aside the entry of default. (Dkt. 5214, 5215.) On February 1, 2018, the 2 Court granted Irico's motion to set aside the entry of default and denied DPPs' motion for default 3 judgment as moot. (Dkt. 5240.) The parties have since engaged in limited discovery relating to 4 whether the Court has jurisdiction over either Irico Defendant. (See Dkt. 5282.)

5 B. Irico Group Was Wholly Owned By the State Council, Created for the 6 Benefit of the People of China, and Tightly Controlled by the State

7 1. Irico Group Was a State-Owned Enterprise

8 Irico Group has been a State enterprise, wholly-owned by the State Council of the 9 People's Republic of China, since its creation by the government in 1989. (Amended Wang 10 Decl. ¶ 20; Amended Plunkett Decl., Ex. 46.) Group was formed out of the wholly state-owned 11 assets of the Shaanxi Color CRT "4400" Plant. (Amended Wang Decl. ¶ 20; Amended Plunkett 12 Decl., Ex. 46.) The "4400" Plant was also classified as an enterprise owned by the whole people 13 of the PRC. (Amended Wang Decl. ¶ 20; Amended Plunkett Decl., Ex. 46.) Ownership "by the 14 whole people," a concept enshrined in the Chinese Constitution, is synonymous with ownership 15 by the Chinese government. See Constitution of the People's Republic of China ("PRC Const."), 16 Art. 7 ("The State-owned economy, namely, the socialist economy under ownership by the 17 whole people, is the leading force in the national economy. The State ensures the consolidation 18 and growth of the State-owned economy.")¹; see also Trans Chem. Ltd. v. China Nat'l Mach.
 19 Import & Export Corp., 978 F. Supp. 266, 290 (S.D. Tex. 1997) (concluding that Chinese law 20 and regulations supported a finding that "Chinese industrial enterprises 'owned by the whole 21 people' . . . are 'state-owned,' with proprietary rights exercised by the State Council on behalf of 22 the state").

23 Group was established through the direct approval of the Chinese Ministry of Machinery 24 and Electronics Industry on March 16, 1989. (Amended Wang Decl. ¶ 20; Amended Plunkett 25 Decl., Ex. 46.) Group was a state-owned enterprise wholly owned by the State Council when the 26 DPPs filed their initial complaint in 2007. (Amended Wang Decl. ¶ 23; Clarke Decl. ¶ 19.²) The

1 State Council is the central executive government of the People’s Republic of China. See PRC
 2 Const., Art. 85 (“The State Council, that is, the Central People’s Government, of the People’s 3 Republic of China is the executive body of the highest organ of state power; it is the highest 4 organ of State administration.”); (Amended Wang Decl. ¶ 22; Clarke Decl. ¶ 20; Amended 5 Plunkett Decl. Ex. 4 at -515 (showing all of Irico Group’s capital owned by “The State 6 Council”).)

7 As a state-owned enterprise, Group was funded solely by the Chinese government.
 8 (Amended Wang Decl. ¶ 26; Amended Plunkett Decl., Ex. 29 at -514.) Group benefited from 9 complete government financial support. (Amended Wang Decl. ¶¶ 25-27; Amended Plunkett 10 Decl., Ex. 49 at -964, 48 (SASAC letter approving “State-owned Capital Operation” budget for 11 Irico Group).) The level of financial support provided by the PRC went well beyond benefits 12 conferred on non-state-owned Chinese businesses. (Amended Wang Decl. ¶¶ 25-27; Amended 13 Plunkett Decl., Ex. 49 at -964, 48.)

14 2. The State Council of the People’s Republic of China Created Irico 15 Group for the Benefit of the People of China Pursuant to Centralized 16 Government Reform Initiatives

17 The PRC created Irico Group to provide valuable CRT technology to the people of China 18 and the Chinese government mandated that Group provide a host of social services that 19 benefitted the people of Xianyang City, Shaanxi Province, where Group is headquartered. The 20 PRC deemed Group as an enterprise “hav[ing] a vital bearing on the lifeline of the national 21 economy” of China. (See Decree of the State Council of the People’s Republic of China No. 378, 22 Art. 5 (May 27, 2003) (“SASAC Regs.”)³; Amended Wang Decl. ¶ 24; Amended Plunkett Decl.
 23 Ex. 12 at -581 (government notice describing Irico Group as “a key large state-owned 24 enterprise”).)

25 Group’s origins trace back to a decision by the State Council in the 1970s to fully fund
 26 and support the production of CRTs due to the strategic importance of CRTs in the development 27 of China’s national economy. (Amended Plunkett Decl., Ex. 30 at -651 (comments from Chinese

1 Deputy Prime Minister that “Color TV is very important for industry, national defense, and 2 civilian use. It must not be omitted from the projects and it must be included in the plan when we 3 formulate the Five-Year Plan.”.) Given the significance of CRTs in the fields of 4 communications, science, education, culture, medicine, industry, agriculture, and others, the 5 Fourth Ministry of Machinery Industry reported to the State Council on February 17, 1977 that it 6 intended to introduce CRT technology and equipment from abroad. (Id.) This resulted in the 7 construction of the wholly state-owned, state-funded, and state-operated Shaanxi Color CRT 8 “4400” Plant in 1978 in Xianyang. The 4400 Plant was “listed as one of the key projects under 9 the State’s ‘Sixth Five-Year Plan.’” (Amended Plunkett Decl., Ex. 46 at -907-908, 6 at -527.)

10 As part of state-directed reform under China’s Seventh Five-Year Plan,⁴ Group was 11 established by the Chinese government in 1989 to further develop CRT technology and to aid in 12 China’s national economic development by responding to the need of the Chinese people for 13 color televisions. (Amended Wang Decl. ¶ 21; Amended Plunkett Decl., Ex. 6; Clarke Decl. ¶ 14 14.) As a state-owned and controlled enterprise, the Chinese government required Group to 15 undertake a host of public service obligations for the benefit of the people of Xianyang City.
 16 Group provided primary and secondary public schools, the local police department, a hospital, 17 public transportation, public recreational facilities to citizens living around and working at 18 Irco’s business operations in Xianyang, Shaanxi Province, and a host of other public welfare 19 projects. (Amended Wang Decl. ¶¶ 25-27; Amended Plunkett Decl., Ex. 49 at -964 (“Due to 20 historical reasons and geographical environment, the Group has assumed a considerable number 21 of social functions, wherein affiliated schools, hospitals, kindergartens, public security offices 22 etc. were established. . . . [C]onsiderable effort and expense are required in such units so that the 23 Group could not fully focus on production and operating activities.”), -968 (listing “Social units

26 ⁴ The Five-Year Plans are broad economic and social development initiatives formulated and issued 27 periodically by the Chinese government. The Seventh Five-Year Plan, in effect when Irco Group was 28 created, stated among its goals to “gradually shift state control of enterprises from direct to indirect means, in order to establish a socialist macroeconomic control system.” (Amended Plunkett Decl., Ex. 53 at Ch. 43; see also Clarke Decl. ¶¶ 10-16 (explaining evolution of China’s state-owned economy).)

ran by the Group,” including those “responsible for government functions,” “[p]ublic welfare units,” and other “[w]elfare-type units.”.)

3. The State Directly Managed and Tightly Controlled Irco Group

Group was subject to the direct management, supervision, and control of SASAC and other departments of the State Council, including the Ministries of Finance and Personnel.⁵ See Decree of the State Council of the People’s Republic of China No. 378, Art. 5 (May 27, 2003) (“SASAC Regs.”), available at <http://en.sasac.gov.cn/n1408035/c1477199/content.html>; (Amended Wang Decl. ¶ 24; Amended Plunkett Decl. Ex. 12 at -581 (government notice describing Irco Group as “a key large state-owned enterprise”), 29 at -642 (SASAC notice listing Irco Group as an entity “under the direct supervision and management of SASAC”); Clarke Decl. ¶ 22.) SASAC’s control over Group was authorized by the Interim Regulations on Supervision and Management of State-owned Assets of Enterprises, adopted by the State Council in 2003 and in effect in late 2007. See SASAC Regs., Art. 2. These governmental regulations specified that SASAC shall:

- “appoint and remove” the board of directors, “general manager, deputy general manager, chief accountant,” and other “responsible persons” of Group, SASAC Regs. at Art. 17(1) (see, e.g., Amended Plunkett Decl. Ex. 45 at -867 (SASAC notice appointing General Manager of Irco Group));
- evaluate the performance and “determine the remuneration” of board members and management of Group, including “grant[ing] rewards” or “impos[ing] punishments . . . based on the evaluation results,” SASAC Regs. at Art. 19 (see Amended Wang Decl. ¶ 32; Amended Plunkett Decl. Ex. 15, 26-28 (SASAC notices regarding performance evaluation and compensation for Irco Group management in 2004 and 2005));
- “dispatch supervisory panels” to Group, id. at Art. 34 (see Amended Wang Decl. ¶ 31; Amended Plunkett Decl. Ex. 13 at -706, -708, Ex. 18 at -593 (2004, 2005, and 2007 SASAC letters appointing supervisors to Irco Group));⁶

⁶ These supervisory panels “carr[ied] out regular . . . or irregular inspections” of Irco Group, were empowered to “supervise the financial activities” of Group and “the operational and management activities” of Group’s top management, and had specific authorization to interview any employees, review “financial and accounting records,” conduct “investigations and inquiries,” and attend Irco Group meetings. Decree of the State Council of the People’s Republic of China No. 283 (Mar. 15, 2000), Art. 3, 5-7, available at <http://en.pkulaw.cn/display.aspx?cgid=27155&lib=law>.

- 1 • “safeguard the rights and interests” of the state in the assets utilized by Group and perform responsibilities on behalf of the State as the sole investor in Group, id. at Art.
13(1), 35;
- 2 • “supervise” and perform regular audits to ensure the “preservation of and increase in 3 the value of State-owned assets” held by Group, SASAC Regs. at Art. 13(5) (see 4 Amended Wang Decl. ¶ 33; Amended Plunkett Decl. Ex. 22-24 (2005, 2006, and 5 2007 SASAC notices to Irico Group regarding audit and evaluation of Group’s prior year financial accounts, which included “level-three or above subsidiaries” of Group));
- 6 • review and approve all Group “restructuring plans” and “articles of association,” SASAC Regs. at Art. 20 (see Amended Wang Decl., and “guide and push forward” 7 any reform or restructuring efforts, id. at Art. 13(2) (see Amended Wang Decl. (see, e.g., Amended Plunkett Decl. Ex. 25 at -624 (SASAC directive approving and giving 8 instructions to Irico Group regarding 2004 restructuring plans));
- 9 • decide “on such major matters as the division, merger, bankruptcy, dissolution, capital increase or decrease, or issue of company bonds” affecting Group and “make 10 arrangements for settling laid-off workers,” SASAC Regs. at Art. 21, 25 (see Amended Wang Decl. ¶¶ 29-30);
- 11 • “authorize . . . operation of State-owned assets” by Group and its subsidiaries, SASAC Regs. at Art. 28; and
- 12 • receive regular reports from Group on its “finance[s], production, and operation” as well as the preservation or appreciation of state-owned assets, id. at Art. 37, 39 (see 13 Amended Wang Decl. ¶ 33; Amended Plunkett Decl. Ex. 19 at -594 (2003 letter from SASAC Statistical Evaluation Bureau reviewing materials submitted by Irico Group 14 to evaluate Group’s success in “preservation and appreciation of state-owned 15 capital”)).

17 In addition, all directors, managers, and other “responsible persons” of Group were at all 18 relevant times subject to government disciplinary sanctions by SASAC—including “removal 19 from office,” disqualification from any future leadership positions at state-owned enterprises, 20 and potential “criminal liability”—for actions causing a “loss of State-owned assets.” SASAC
21 Regs. at Art. 40, 41 (see Amended Wang Decl. ¶ 37, 38; Amended Plunkett Decl. Ex. 50 at -012.)
22 For example, in 2003, the Communist Party Enterprise Working Committee issued a notice 23 announcing former Group General Manager Weiren Wu’s expulsion from the Party for 24 corruption charges and prohibited him from holding future positions at any state-owned 25 enterprises. (Amended Plunkett Decl. Ex. 50 at -012.)

26 Group was also required to refer all investment activities and major asset or property 27 rights transfers to SASAC for approval. (Amended Wang Decl. ¶ 34; Amended Plunkett Decl., 28 Ex. 36 at-712 (2006 investment report and 2007 investment plan of Irico Group and its

1 subsidiaries, submitted to SASAC for review and approval).) All major operating activities,

23 III. ARGUMENT

24 A. The Court Lacks Subject Matter Jurisdiction Because Irico Group is 25 Immune from Suit in the United States as an Agency or Instrumentality of 26 the People’s Republic of China

26 The FSIA insulates Irico Group from the exercise of jurisdiction in the United States. See 27 28 U.S.C. § 1604. The FSIA is “a comprehensive statute containing a set of legal standards 28 governing claims of immunity in every civil action against a foreign state or its political subdivisions, agencies, or instrumentalities.” Rep. of Austria v. Altmann, 541 U.S. 677, 691 (2004) (internal quotation marks omitted), and “is the exclusive source of subject matter jurisdiction over all suits involving foreign states and their instrumentalities.” Compania Mexicana de Aviacion, S.A. v. U.S. Dist. Ct. for the C.D. Cal., 859 F.2d 1354, 1358 (9th Cir. 1988). Under the FSIA, the definition of a “foreign state” includes any “agency or instrumentality of a foreign state,” to wit, any entity:

(1) which is a separate legal person, corporate or otherwise, and

(2) which is an organ of a foreign state or political subdivision thereof, or a majority of whose shares or other ownership interest is owned by a foreign state or political subdivision thereof, and

(3) which is neither a citizen of a State of the United States as defined in section 1332(c) and (e) of this title, nor created under the laws of any third country.

28 U.S.C. § 1603(b); see also Argentine Republic v. Amerada Hess Shipping Corp., 488 U.S. 428, 428-29, 434-35 (1989) (the FSIA is “the sole basis for obtaining jurisdiction over a foreign state in United States courts” and “must be applied by district courts in every action against a foreign sovereign”); Siderman de Blake v. Republic of Argentina, 965 F.2d 699, 706 (9th Cir. 1992) (“As a threshold matter, therefore, a court adjudicating a claim against a foreign state must determine whether the FSIA provides subject matter jurisdiction over the claim.”); MOL, Inc. v. Peoples Republic of Bangladesh, 736 F.2d 1326, 1328 (9th Cir. 1984) (“As section 1330(a) indicates, sovereign immunity is not merely a defense under the FSIA. Its absence is a jurisdictional requirement.”). It is undisputed that Irigo Group is a separate legal person under subsection 1603(b)(1) and a citizen of China for purposes of subsection (3).

1. Irigo Group Was Wholly Owned by the Chinese State and Qualifies as an Agency or Instrumentality of China

For purposes of applying the FSIA, an entity’s status must be determined at the time the complaint was filed. Dole Food Co. v. Patrickson, 538 U.S. 468, 479-80 (2003). At the time the DPPs filed their original complaints against Irigo, Irigo Group was 100% owned by the State Council of the People’s Republic of China. (Amended Wang Decl. ¶¶ 22-23; Amended Plunkett Decl., Ex. 4 at -515 (showing all of Irigo Group’s capital owned by “The State Council” in 2000), 34 at -682 (audit report showing all of Irico Group’s capital was still wholly “state-owned” in 2008); Clarke Decl. ¶ 19; see also Dkt. 310 (corporate disclosure statement filed on June 24, 2008 stating that “Irico Group . . . is a corporation wholly owned by the People’s Republic of China and has no parent company”).) Irico Group is thus a “foreign state” for purposes of Section 1603(b)(2) and its immunity from suit is therefore presumed. 28 U.S.C. §§ 1603(a)(2), 1604; see Am. West Airlines, Inc. v. GPA Group, Ltd., 877 F.2d 793, 796 (9th Cir. 1989) (finding corporations “fully owned by the Republic of Ireland” to be “foreign states” under the FSIA); Corzo v. Banco Cent. Reserva del Peru, 243 F.3d 519, 522 (9th Cir. 2001) (“Under the FSIA, foreign sovereigns are presumptively immune from suit in the United States.”).

Even if not for the fact that Irico Group qualifies as an instrumentality of China under the majority-ownership prong of section 1603(b)(2), it would qualify as an “organ” of China under that same subsection given the circumstances of its creation out of wholly state-owned entities as approved by the State Council, the total ownership and control exercised over Group by the State Council through SASAC and other government bodies, such as the Ministry of Finance, and other privileges and obligations undertaken by Group under Chinese law as a wholly state-owned enterprise, as described above in Section II.B. (See Irico Display Mot. at 4-6 (describing legal standard in the Ninth Circuit for qualification as an “organ of a foreign state”).)

2. No Exceptions Apply That Would Deprive Irico Group of Sovereign Immunity

DPPs bear the burden of production to demonstrate that the Court may properly invoke its subject matter jurisdiction over Irico Group subject to one of the FSIA’s statutory exceptions. Saudi Arabia v. Nelson, 507 U.S. 349, 355 (1993) (“Under the Act, a foreign state is presumptively immune from the jurisdiction of the United States courts; unless a specified exception applies, a federal court lacks subject-matter jurisdiction over a claim against a foreign state.”); Peterson v. Islamic Republic of Iran, 627 F.3d 1117, 1125 (9th Cir. 2010) (“The structure of the FSIA—which codifies the background rule that foreign states are immune from suit and execution, and then creates narrow exceptions—suggest that courts must begin with the presumption that a foreign state is immune and then the plaintiff must prove that an exception to immunity applies.”). In cases, as here, “where a defendant . . . makes a factual attack on subject matter jurisdiction” and introduces evidence showing immunity, “no presumptive truthfulness attaches to plaintiff’s allegations.” Terenkian v. Republic of Iraq, 694 F.3d 1122, 1131 (9th Cir. 2012). “The plaintiff then has the burden of going forward with the evidence by offering proof that one of the FSIA exceptions applies.” Id.

Section 1605(a) of the FSIA provides exceptions to immunity only where a foreign state or instrumentality (1) “waived its immunity,” (2) engaged in “commercial activity” upon which the action is based with a sufficient nexus to the United States, (3) took property “in violation of international law,” (4) contests rights to “immovable property” in the United States, (5) committed certain noncommercial torts, or (6) is bound by an agreement to arbitrate. 28 U.S.C. § 1605(a). Exceptions (3) through (6) have no conceivable application here, and this Court has already found that actions by the Irico Defendants prior to their default did not waive immunity. (Dkt. 5240 at 12-13.)

DPPs previously asserted in error that the “commercial activity” exception would preclude Irico Group from invoking immunity under the FSIA. (Dkt. 5221 at 12-17). The commercial activity exception “is given a very restrictive interpretation,” Sec. Pac. Nat’l Bank v. Derderian, 872 F.2d 281, 285 (9th Cir. 1989), and requires that the lawsuit be “based upon” specific commercial acts by a particular “foreign state” defendant. 28 U.S.C. § 1605(a)(2). A foreign state or instrumentality loses its immunity under this exception only if:

- (1) “the action is based upon a commercial activity carried on in the United States by the foreign state;”
- (2) “the action is based . . . upon an act performed in the United States in connection with a commercial activity of the foreign state elsewhere;” or
- (3) “the action is based . . . upon an act outside the upon an act outside the territory of the United States in connection with a commercial activity of the foreign state elsewhere and that act causes a direct effect in the United States.”

Id. The first and second prongs of the exception cannot apply to Irico Group because Group carried on no “commercial activity” in the United States and performed no “acts” in the United States, let alone one upon which this action is based. (Amended Wang Decl. ¶¶ 12-13.)

1 DPPs also cannot demonstrate that any of Irico Group’s alleged actions underlying their 2 claims had a “direct effect” in the United States as required to defeat immunity under the third 3 prong of section 1605(a)(2). To constitute a “direct effect” under the FSIA, an effect must 4 “follow[] as an immediate consequence of the defendant’s activity.” Republic of Argentina v.
 5 Weltover, Inc., 504 U.S. 607, 618 (1992). A consequence is immediate “if no intervening act 6 breaks the chain of causation leading from the asserted wrongful act to its impact in the United 7 States.” Terenkian, 694 F.3d at 1133 (citing Lyons v. Augusta S.P.A., 252 F.3d 1078, 1083 (9th 8 Cir. 2001) and Guirlando v. T.C. Ziraat Bankasi A.S., 602 F.3d 69, 75 (2d Cir. 2010) (“[T]he 9 requisite immediacy is lacking where the alleged effect depends crucially on variables 10 independent of the conduct of the foreign state.”)) (internal quotations omitted).

11 Moreover, “[s]atisfying the requirement that an effect be ‘immediate’ and therefore 12 ‘direct’ is not sufficient by itself to satisfy the ‘direct effect’ prong of the commercial activity 13 exception, however, because the effect must also be more than ‘purely trivial’ or ‘remote and 14 attenuated.’” Terenkian, 694 F.3d at 1134 (citing Weltover, 504 U.S. at 618). This means that, to 15 prove a direct effect, plaintiffs must show that “something legally significant actually happened 16 in the United States” as a direct result of Irico Group’s actions. Id.; Gregorian v. Izvetsia, 871 17 F.2d 1515, 1527 (9th Cir. 1989). These “legally significant” actions alleged to have directly 18 injured plaintiffs must be actions of the specific defendant at issue, as actions by independent or 19 even related entities will not suffice. See California v. NRG Energy, Inc., 391 F.3d 1011, 1024
 20 (9th Cir. 2004) (finding no “direct effect” by a parent company and refusing to impute any effects 21 from direct sales to the U.S. by its wholly-owned subsidiary), vacated on other grounds, 22 Powerex Corp. v. Reliant Energy Servs., Inc., 551 U.S. 224 (2007). “[M]ere financial loss by a 23 person—individual or corporate—in the U.S. is not, in itself, sufficient to constitute a direct 24 effect.” Adler v. Fed. Republic of Nigeria, 107 F.3d 720, 726-27 (9th Cir. 1997).

25 In their complaint, DPPs have alleged that Irico Group made sales “either directly 26 or through its subsidiaries or affiliates throughout the United States.” (Dkt. 436 at ¶ 37.) These 27 allegations are purely speculative, and are entitled to “no presumptive truthfulness” in evaluating 28 FSIA immunity. Terenkian, 694 F.3d at 1134. Plaintiffs have presented no evidence that Irico

1 Group made any sales (whether of CRTs or finished products) to customers in the United States
 2 during the Class Period. Irico Group made no such sales: Irico sold products almost exclusively 3 within China, and its limited exports did not include any sales into the United States.⁷ (Amended 4 Wang Decl. ¶ 12; see Amended Plunkett Decl., Ex. 5 at -527 (government approval for the 5 formation of Irico Group, requiring Group to seek special approval from the Ministry of 6 Machinery and Electronics Industry for any potential exports because “currently . . . domestic 7 market demand still cannot be met”).) Furthermore, Irico Group did not have any salespeople 8 authorized to sell CRT products to U.S. customers at any time between 1995 and 2007.
 9 (Amended Wang Decl. ¶ 13.)

10 Nor can Plaintiffs rely on their allegations that Irico Group participated in a conspiracy to 11 support a finding of “direct effect.” The “direct effect” prong of the commercial activity 12 exception typically only applies in cases where a foreign sovereign has entered into a contractual 13 relationship requiring performance in the United States, or where a U.S. plaintiff was injured
 14 directly by a foreign sovereign’s tortious conduct. See, e.g., Weltover, 504 U.S. at 618-19
 15 (finding “direct effect” where contract specified payment in the United States); Adler, 107 F.3d
 16 720, 726-27 (same), or where a U.S. plaintiff was allegedly injured by a foreign sovereign’s 17 tortious conduct, see, e.g., Am. West Airlines, Inc., 877 F.2d at 796-800 (finding no “direct 18 effect” where defendant’s allegedly faulty aircraft maintenance happened outside the United 19 States); Joseph v. Office of Consulate Gen. of Nigeria, 830 F.2d 1018, 1024 (9th Cir. 1987).
 20 Cases applying the “direct effect” test in the antitrust context are somewhat rare, but those that 21 do, including in the Ninth Circuit, have concluded that no direct effect exists unless the specific 22 defendant had direct sales of the allegedly affected product in the United States. See NRG
 23 Energy, Inc., 391 F.3d at 1024 (finding no “direct effect” because a parent company’s “decisions 24 affected an intermediary,” its own subsidiary, “whose actions in turn affected the U.S.” through

25 ⁷ Prior filings by DPPs made reference to approximately two thousand “sample units” of Irico CRTs 26 shipped to the United States in 2002. (See Dkt. 5221 at 16.) These sales were not made by Irico Group, 27 but rather by China National Electronics Import & Export Caihong Co. (“Caihong Co.”), a separate, 28 unaffiliated state-owned entity over which Irico Group had no control. (See Amended Plunkett Decl. Ex.
 54 (showing 2,018 CRT units exported to the United States in 2002 by Caihong Co.; country code “502” indicates the United States).)

1 direct power sales to California), aff'g in part In re Wholesale Electricity Antitrust Cases I & II, 2 No. 2-0990-RHW, 2002 WL 34165887, at *8 (S.D. Cal. Dec. 17, 2002) (“It appears, however, 3 that BC Hydro simply delivered energy to Powerex, and Powerex independently marketed and 4 sold the power into the California markets . . . Any ‘direct effect’ on the California markets was 5 perpetrated by Powerex.”), vacated on other grounds, Powerex Corp. v. Reliant Energy Servs., 6 Inc., 551 U.S. 224 (2007); Filetech S.A. v. Fr. Telecom, S.A., 212 F. Supp. 2d 183 at 197 7 (S.D.N.Y. 2001) (finding no “direct effect” from allegedly anticompetitive conduct where 8 defendant, an instrumentality of France, had not “intended or contemplated a specific effect in 9 the United States,” did not have “substantial sales of marketing lists in the United States,” and 10 “failed to arrange for or complete a single U.S. sale” of certain other products).

11 Cases outside the antitrust context confirm that a “direct effect” cannot be established 12 without direct sales. See Terenkian, 694 F.3d at 1138 (finding no “direct effect” due to breach of 13 contract to deliver oil despite fact that “some of the oil intended for purchase was meant for the 14 U.S. market”); In re N. Sea Brent Crude Oil Futures Litig., No. 1:13-MD-02475(ALC), 2016 15 WL 1271063, at *12 (S.D.N.Y. Mar. 29, 2016) (finding no “direct effect” where plaintiffs 16 “present[ed] evidence of a correlation between physical Brent crude oil prices and futures 17 prices,” where “any effect the physical transactions ha[d] on the United States markets [wa]s 18 mitigated by the actions of third parties”).

19 Jurisprudence on the application of personal jurisdiction to alleged participants in a 20 conspiracy is also instructive on this point.⁸ The Ninth Circuit has held that “the requirement of 21 a ‘direct effect’ incorporates the minimum contacts standards of International Shoe v.
 22 Washington” and therefore “must comport with the traditional notions of fair play and substantial

23 ⁸ In its February 1, 2018 Order granting Irco’s motion to set aside the default, the Court turned to cases 24 under the Foreign Trade Antitrust Improvements Act for assistance in interpreting the “direct effects” 25 requirement. Irco respectfully submits that personal jurisdiction principles provide a more apt analogy 26 because, as described below, the Ninth Circuit has explicitly incorporated “minimum contacts” principles 27 in its FSIA jurisprudence. In addition, unlike the FTAIA, sovereign immunity and personal jurisdiction 28 each address the court’s jurisdiction over a particular defendant. The FSIA and FTAIA also have notably different purposes. See Gross v. FBL Fin. Servs., Inc., 557 U.S. 167, 174 (2009) (noting that courts “must be careful not to apply rules applicable under one statute to a different statute without careful and critical examination”); Lotes Co., Ltd. v. Hon Hai Precision Indus. Co., 753 F.3d 395, 410-11 (2d Cir. 2014) (“Here, both the purpose and language of the FSIA and FTAIA differ in critical respects.”).

1 justice which determine the due process limits of personal jurisdiction.” Derderian, 872 F.2d at 2 286-87; see also Corzo, 243 F.3d at 525-26 (citing Security Pacific for the necessity of 3 “minimum contacts” with the United States to establish a direct effect under the FSIA); Theo. H.
 4 Davies & Co. v. Republic of Marshall Islands, 174 F.3d 969, 974 (9th Cir. 1998) (“Section 5 1330(b) [of the FSIA] provides, in effect, a Federal long-arm statute over foreign states 6 This long-arm statute, however, is constrained by the minimum contacts required by 7 International Shoe Co. v. Washington and its progeny.”) (internal citation omitted); Rote v. Zel 8 Custom Mfg. LLC, 816 F.3d 383, 395 (6th Cir. 2016) (observing “that the Ninth Circuit has 9 adopted . . . ‘minimum contacts’ analysis to conclude that [an] activity had no ‘direct effect.’”).

10 In the personal jurisdiction context, courts in the Ninth Circuit have found that acts or 11 contacts of alleged co-conspirators cannot be imputed to a different defendant for purposes of 12 establishing jurisdiction over that defendant. As stated by the court in Kipperman v. McCone:

13 Contrary to plaintiff’s assertion that personal jurisdiction over alleged 14 co-conspirators may be acquired vicariously through the forum-related 15 conduct of any single conspirator, the Court believes that personal 16 jurisdiction over any non-resident individual must be premised upon forum-related acts personally committed by the individual. Imputed conduct is a connection too tenuous to warrant the exercise of personal jurisdiction.

17 422 F. Supp. 860, 873 n.14 (N.D. Cal. 1976) (emphases added). The Ninth Circuit likewise has 18 noted that a “conspiracy theory” of jurisdiction is unwarranted, observing that “[t]here is a great 19 deal of doubt surrounding [its] legitimacy,” Chirila v. Conforte, 47 Fed. App’x 838, 842 (9th Cir.
 20 2002) (citing Kipperman and other cases), and has squarely rejected the imputing of contacts 21 from co-conspirators in the venue context, Piedmont Label Co. v. Sun Garden Packing Co., 598 22 F.2d 491, 492 (9th Cir. 1979). Extending the reach of the “direct effects” exception beyond that 23 recognized in this Circuit as appropriate for personal jurisdiction would frustrate “Congress’ 24 intent that it be difficult for private litigants to bring foreign governments into court, thereby 25 affronting them.” Murphy v. Korea Asset Mgmt. Corp., 421 F. Supp. 2d 627, 640 (S.D.N.Y.
 26 2005) (internal quotations omitted).

27 Given the absence of sales to the U.S. by Irico Group and the lack of any evidence that 28 Group otherwise meets the strictly-construed requirements of the commercial activities

1 exception, there is no basis for concluding that jurisdiction under the FSIA exists with respect to 2 Irico Group.

3 IV. CONCLUSION

4 Based on the foregoing, Irico requests that the Court enter an order: (a) dismissing the 5 DPP Complaint against Irico with prejudice; and (b) granting such further relief as may be just 6 and equitable.
